

June 2010 issue of Journal of Radiological Protection

The June 2010 issue of the Journal of Radiological Protection contains a special section featuring papers from the PROTECT project and the IAEA EMRAS Biota Working Group (BWG). Abstracts are available on the PROTECT and BWG pages of this site. UNTIL THE END OF 2010 ALL ARTICLES IN THE SPECIAL SECTION HAVE BEEN MADE FREELY AVAILABLE BY THE JOURNAL TO DOWNLOAD FROM THEIR WEBSITE.

The papers are:

Protection of the environment from ionizing radiation in a regulatory context - an overview of the PROTECT coordinated action project

B J Howard, N A Beresford, P Andersson, J E Brown, D Copplestone, K Beaugelin-Seiller, J Garnier-Laplace, P D Howe, D Oughton and P Whitehouse (195-214)

A multi-criteria weight of evidence approach for deriving ecological benchmarks for radioactive substances

J Garnier-Laplace, C Della-Vedova, P Andersson, D Copplestone, C Cailles, N A Beresford, B J Howard, P Howe and P Whitehouse (215--233)

Background dose-rates to reference animals and plants arising from exposure to naturally occurring radionuclides in aquatic environments

A Hosseini, N A Beresford, J E Brown, D G Jones, M Phaneuf, H Thørring and T Yankovich (235-264)

Assessment of risk to wildlife from ionising radiation: can initial screening tiers be used with a high level of confidence?

N A Beresford, A Hosseini, J E Brown, C Cailles, K Beaugelin-Seiller, C L Barnett and D Copplestone (265-281)

Considerations for the integration of human and wildlife radiological assessments

D Copplestone, J E Brown and N A Beresford (283-297)

An international model validation exercise on radionuclide transfer and doses to freshwater biota

T L Yankovich, J Vives i Batlle, S Vives-Lynch, N A Beresford, C L Barnett, K Beaugelin-Seiller, J E Brown, J-J Cheng, D Copplestone, R Helling, A Hosseini, B J Howard, S Kamboj, A I Kryshev, T Nedveckaite, J T Smith and M D Wood (299-340)

Predicting the radiation exposure of terrestrial wildlife in the Chernobyl exclusion zone: an international comparison of approaches

N A Beresford, C L Barnett, J E Brown, J-J Cheng, D Copplestone, S Gaschak, A Hosseini, B J Howard, S Kamboj, T Nedveckaite, G Olafslagers, J T Smith, J Vives i Batlle, S Vives-Lynch and C Yu (341-373)

Invited Editorial: Protection of the environment from ionising radiation: developing criteria and evaluating approaches for use in regulation

David Copplestone, Nicholas Beresford and Brenda Howard